Namaste !!!

An interesting quote that caught my attention is, let there be peace on Earth ..... and let it begin with me. Peace as a precondition for national development and as a social temper has immense relevance today, in view of the growing tendency across the world towards intolerance and violence as a way of resolving conflicts.

Disappointment, dissatisfaction, difference of opinion, disagreements, displeasure are there at all stages of human life right from childhood days.

Do we give in to the tantrums of children and fulfil all that they ask for or do we talk to them and get them to understand various aspects of a given situation and suggest appropriate approaches to overcome that, is a call that parents and teachers must take while raising children.

But , building a culture of peace is certainly one of the incontestable goals of education.

In the month of August, we started with co-curricular activities for our children in the evening, of course in the virtual platform. Music, art/craft, dance, yoga is introduced to promote aesthetic and personal awareness and the ability to express oneself in different forms.

Forging the future, a career guidance session for students of grade 6 & 7 and Great stories begins here -Alumni Talk were organised by SEL. Some of our students also got the experience of participating in Inter School events like Tech-A-thon and 'Shri Utsav – Sanskriti'.

Looking forward to a safe and peaceful September.

MONEY MATTERS FOR KIDS

A key reason that it is important for you, as a parent, to teach your kids financial lessons is because you can share your money values through those lessons. If you value giving to others, you can instil that value in your children by helping make it a habit for them from an early age.

How to Teach Pre-Schoolers and Kindergartners About Money

1. Use a clear jar to save.

The piggy bank is a great idea, but it doesn't give kids a visual. When you use a clear jar, they see the money growing. Yesterday, they had a 2-rupee coins, 5-rupee coins and 10-rupee coins. Today, they have 50 rupees currency note, 100 currency rupees note, etc., Talk through this with them and make a big deal about it growing!

2. Set an example.

A study by the University of Cambridge found that money habits in children are formed by the time they're 7 years old.(1) Little eyes are watching you. If you're slapping down plastic every time you go out to dinner or the grocery store, they'll eventually notice. Or if you and your spouse are arguing about money, they'll notice that too. Set a healthy example for them and they'll be much more likely to follow it when they get older.

3. Show them that stuff costs money.

You've got to do more than just say, "That pack of toy cars costs 500 rupees." Help them grab a few amount out of their jar, take it with them to the store, and physically hand the money to the cashier. This simple action will have more impact than a five-minute lecture.

THIS IS WHY WE DO. WHAT WE DO!!!

All Teachers are excellent. All students enjoying class. Last one year teacher is trying very hard for students really, I am very happy for my child. Special thanks for Manju Bhargavi Mam she thought practically everything, and students remember long time. Shree Valli Mam is superb her nature with students like very appreciated. My baby telling mamma I am Shree Valli Mam I am teacher. This word is enough for any teacher.

The teachers are taking equal efforts to review the HW and send their feedback. The HW is submitted in PDF form, the teachers correct the same file and send back to us highlighting the mistakes along with the Answer key.

As a parent, I feel my daughter is much connected to the school, teacher and others. With difficult situation, I believe communication is key to my child's wellbeing and education and Tsusc school has and continues to fulfil this objectively and effectively. Further, I want my child to have fond memories of these early school years and it is her teacher and school, not me, that will be shaping her for the future. I believe, TSUSC really does it perfectly in grooming my child.
